

Photo

Evolve With Multicultural Affairs

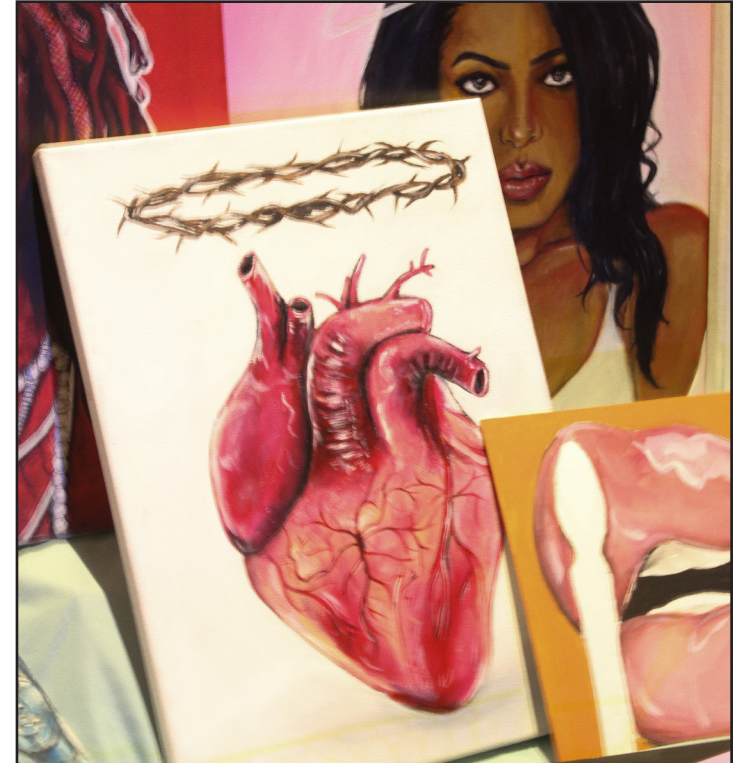

A local artist and their incredible portrait of the King of Pop, Michael Jackson.

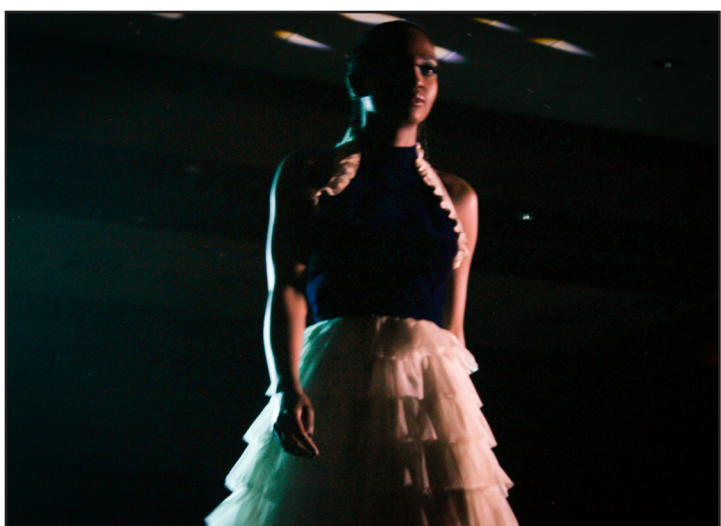

A grand finale event celebrating Black History Month, Evolve with Multicultural Affairs, showcased African American culture enriched fine art, fashion, music, dancing, and poetry. The artist of this collection is Jadyn Lewis.

Models showcasing their beautiful, colorful attire on the runway.

A painting by Jadyn Lewis displays a human heart and the thorny crown of Christ.

As a part of the event, several models walked the runway, showcasing fashion trends through the decades.

Talented individuals performing their musical numbers.

Dominique Phillips (left) and Quentin Sanders emceed the event while portraying a fictional elderly couple.

The performers, fashion models, dancers, and members of Evolve gathered together.

Dancers standing in their opening pose. The event showcased the many talents of students and community members.

Photos by: Eric McGee | Staff Photographer