

Photo

Students Enjoying Snow and Ice on Campus

1. Students posing in the ice and snow with the famous "HOWL" sign.

2. Ice and snow covering the entire A-State campus, Feb. 11. Classes were canceled, as well as all on-campus events for Feb. 10 and 11, due to the dense coverage of wintry weather.

3. Mehr Aslam, a sophomore creative media major from Karachi, Pakistan, tossing ice and snow in the cold winter air.

4. Students walking and slipping on the ice outside the Student Union.

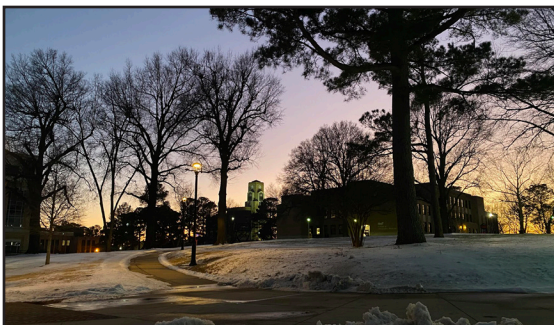

7. Students making a heart in the snow.

5. Snow and sleet falling on the campus.

6. Winter weather decorates the buildings and walkways on campus.

8. A beautiful sunset colors the sky and reflects off the ice.

9. Students with a sled, ready to slide down the hills of the A-State campus.

10. A-State students (from left to right) Susan Abshier, Abbey Tran, Miho Onuma and Emily Provence posing at the HOWL sign, surrounded by ice and snow.

11. A student walking to class on the cleared sidewalks by the Library.

12. Ice covered streets beginning to be cleared, Feb. 11.

13. Eden Snyder and Jenna Rhoads laughing and walking around campus in the ice.