

Photo

Women's History Month at A-State

1. March is Women's History month and A-State has numerous events such as a book club, yoga and forums to celebrate.

2. In the midst of Women's History Month, March 8 has been founded as International Women's Day since 1914.

3. International Women's Day, March 8.

4. To celebrate Women's History Month and create a way for students to relax during Mid-terms, the Dean B. Ellis Library has coloring sheets and puzzles available in the entrance.

Upcoming Events

March 9

5. A "Natural Hair Care Forum" will take place at 6 p.m. March 9, at the Grand Hall in the Fowler Center. The Forum is an event that honors natural black women by fostering an open dialogue about the diversity and challenges that come with having natural hair. Dr. Lillie Fears will be the keynote speaker and will be addressing a panel consisting of two students and two professionals to examine the representation of African American and Black women in the media, the workplace, and everyday life.

March 10

6. Novelist Mary Elizabeth Pope will be giving a reading of her latest book "The Gods of Green Country" at 7 p.m. on March 10 at the Bradbury Art Museum. Two A-State students will be reading their works as well. Pope will be having a book signing after the readings. "Gods of Green Country" is set in Arkansas and recently published.

March 15

7. The Bradbury Art Museum is hosting "Yoga at BAM," 6 p.m., March 15 at the museum. The class is available for all experience levels and will be taught by yoga and meditation teacher Bethany Davis. Participants are encouraged to bring mats or to reserve a mat by contacting visitBAM@astate.edu.

March 15

8. The Multicultural Center is hosting a movie night and, afterwards, leading a discussion for the film "Hidden Figures." The movie night will take place at 6 p.m. on March 15 at the Multicultural Center on the third floor of the Carl R. Reng Student Union.

March 1-31

9. The A-State Lakeport Plantation is housing a "Women of the Delta" Traveling Photography Exhibition. The exhibit is a collection of photographs of women from across the Arkansas Delta from the 1970s. Consisting of 24 black and white images, the exhibit has preserved and published information about the lives and history of women of the Delta. The collection can be viewed Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Lakeport Plantation Visitor's Center until April 1.

March 29

10. Women & Gender Studies and the Office of Multicultural Affairs is hosting a Women's History Month Book Club for the book, "Prepped: Coming of Age in Black and White America: A Memoir" by D. Veda Pendleton. The book will be discussed during the Book Club meeting at 5 p.m. on March 29 at the Multicultural Center in the Carl R. Reng Student Union.

March 30

11. "Purpose of the Plate," a discussion about eating disorders and related issues, will be led by the Office of Multicultural Affairs and selected special guests. The intent of the event is to educate about proper healthy habits and reframe the values around food and eating. The event will be held at 5 p.m. on March 30, in the Arkansas River Room, located on third floor of the Carl R. Reng Student Union.

Photos 1 courtesy of Student Life at A-State, Graphic 2 courtesy of A-State International, Photo 3 by A-State MAT; Photo 4 and Page Layout by Hannah Risker, Photo Editor; Graphic 5 courtesy of Lenfest Institute; Photo 6 courtesy of Mary Elizabeth Pope; Graphic 7 courtesy of Bradbury Art Museum; Photo 8 courtesy of Wikipedia; Photo 9 courtesy of Women of the Delta Traveling Photography Exhibit; Photo 10 courtesy of the Office of Multicultural Affairs; and Graphic 11 courtesy of iStock.