

Photo

A-State Howler Of Fall 2022

People signed up for the Fall 2022 Howler event in front of the LTC Fredrick C. Turner, Jr. Military Science building on Sept. 17, 2022.

Team Dr. Scennie & The Amazing Funkmonster crawled through the first obstacle of the course.

Team Dr. Scennie & The Amazing Funkmonster, the first team to enter the Howler obstacle course.

The Hope We Don't Die Team pushed a HMMWV for a short distance.

One of Whitehall's teams walked through the small pond that can be found by Northpark quds building 5.

From left to right, Trevor Karther, a senior mechanical engineering major from Little Rock, helped ROTC volunteers Chase Goodson, a junior disaster preparedness and emergency management major from Arkadelphia, and Justin Maguire, a freshman land surveying & geomatics major from Batesville, in the Fire department spray area.

One of the northside teams pulled a tire and back while one member sat on the tire.

During the second half of the course, one of Malvern's JROTC teams is tasked with rowing a distance of 750 meters.

At the finishing line, one of Mountain Home NJROTC ends with a time of 1: 37: 29.

One of the Westside teams tackled the log obstacle.

One of the three hydration stations that were placed throughout the course.

Team Ritter Communications Noc-Outs ran towards the next obstacle.

The water canisters that were carried around the third level of the parking deck.

Photos By Jessica McMillan | Photo Editor