

Eventful weekends in Jonesboro

1. White Hall High School students cross the pond behind Northpark Quads at A-State's The Howler.

2. Adam Prokepek and Katie Smith from the A-State Red Wolf Battalion attempt to crawl out of the mud pit. The Howler is an annual 7 mile obstacle course hosted by Howls Heroes. The event was open to A-State students and surrounding high schools.

3. A group of Crossfit runners sweat during log PT.

5. The Northeast Arkansas District Fair in Jonesboro. The fair is a hotspot for fun and greasy food for A-State students and local community.

4. First-year instrumental music education major Libby Pate enjoys The Himalayan ride at the NEA Fair.

6. Emily Stull, a first-year special education major from Monette, Arkansas said "My favorite thing about the fair in Jonesboro is that I won three goldfish: Bubbles, Bubbles Jr. and Bubbles Sr."

7. Brady Ingram, a first-year business administration major from Sheridan, Arkansas said, "The fair is a good time to hang out with friends, eat really good food and you have a great opportunity to win a lot of really great prizes, such as fish."

8. Sushma Reddy Vonteddu, a sophomore medical radiology major from Hyderabad, India said, "My favorite thing about the fair is the rides. My favorite ride is the Moby Dick." For more student speaks about the NEA Fair visit The Herald website, astatetheherald.com

Photos 1, 2 & 3 by Jack Douglas | Staff Writer

Photos 6, 7 & 8 by Shailey Wooldridge | Staff Writer

Photos 4 & 5 by Rebecca Worthington | Photo Editor