

Photo

Totality at A-State

1-5: Phases of the eclipse over Pocahontas, Arkansas. (Photos by Shailey Wooldridge | Photo Editor)

6. Students watching the solar eclipse through eclipse glasses. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

7. Students cheer as the eclipse reaches totality. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

8. Students observe the partial eclipse. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

9. Fraternity brothers of Alpha Phi Alpha strolling before the eclipse reached totality. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

10. Students, faculty and community members gather on Heritage Plaza Lawn as totality begins. (Photo by Caroline Averitt | Life Editor)

11. (Left) Terrance Armstard, instructor of multimedia journalism, aids Reika Sakai in taking a photo of the eclipse. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

12. Students try out their eclipse glasses while waiting in line for snow cones. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)

13. Students take a selfie wearing eclipse glasses. (Photo by Rachel Rudd | Editor-in-Chief)